PROGRAM ADOPTED FOR DEMOCRATIC NAT. CONVENTION

JAMES P. ROBINSON, ADMINISTRATION CANDIDATE, IS ELECTED PERMANENT CHAIRMAN

NOMINATION OF CANDIDATES FOR PRESIDENT WILL BEGIN AT 1 P. M. TOMORROW

HUGH BAILLIE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

San Francisco, June 29.—The democratic national convention meets today to select James P. Robinson, of Arkansas, as chairman, in accordance with the recommendations of the permanent organization committee.

His keynote speech will "speed up" organizations agreed to during the night by the rules committee. Under the program nominating speeches will begin at 1 P. M. tomorrow, but actual balloting will not start until the platform has been adopted.

Robinson is a staunch administration supporter and with him the control remains in the hands of the president. There was no fight against him in the committee. Mrs. W. E. McDougall put him in nomination and nearly all the delegates jumped up to second his nomination. Former Governor Ralston of Indiana, chairman of the committee, called for a vote and Robinson "went over" unanimously. The other temporary officers of the convention were made permanent.

The question of whether nominations should be made before the platform had been adopted caused a hot debate in the rules committee. The rules of the fifty-eighth congress were adopted with provisos that the order shall be as follows:

Report of the credentials committee.

Report of the committee on permanent organization.

Nomination speeches for presidential candidates to start at 1 P. M. tomorrow.

Report of the platform committee.

Nomination speeches for presidential candidates.

Balloting on nominations for vice president.

Routine resolution and final adjournment.

Chairman Robinson's Speech

In his speech accepting the permanent chairmanship of the democratic national convention, Joseph P. Robinson, of Arkansas, assailed the republican platform, declaring that:

"It is an amazing jumble of ambiguities, evasion, misrepresentation, straddlers and standers.

"The republican convention should have displayed enough courage to declare its policy, but was frank only on one subject, merely singing a hymn of hate for the president.

"The platform is deliberately unfair in charges that the democrats are responsible for military unpreparedness."

Devoting his attention first to the charges of unpreparedness, Robinson said:

"Everyone knows that the republican party controlled the government for a long period prior to the inauguration of President Wilson except the time when the democrats were in majority in one branch of congress.

"If criticism of the pre-war nation's policy as to military preparedness is justified, the blame must fall upon the republican party. That party cannot escape criticism."

With regard to the republican claim of a policy of economy, the senator declared that "the absurdity of this boast is discredited by the fact that one billion dollars in excess of the amount appropriated by the democratic congress in 1916, has been authorized for the coming fiscal year. Besides many necessary funds have been withheld to make a show of economy."

The republicans repeal of taxes he characterized as manifestly insincere.

"A big joke," was his characterization of the plank concerning profiteering. "The republicans enacted no profiteering laws. The amendments to the food control act were supported by the president and by the democrats in congress. The president recommended four additional measures to provide a penalty for profiteers and all were pigeon-holed. The republicans offered no substitutes."

Administration Dominates Entire Convention

San Francisco, June 29.—It is still a Wilson convention. If there were any doubts about it after the spontaneity of the demonstration of the delegates yesterday these were removed in all the committees.

Pro-administration forces dominated all the committees. The expected fight against Carter Glass as chairman of the resolution committee, failed to eventuate and his unanimous selection for that post indicates recognition by the insurgents. The committee for the drafting of the platform is also entirely Wilsonian.

Wm. Jennings Bryan was excluded from membership on this drafting committee and has decided to make a personal fight for a bone dry plank on the floor of the convention.

In credentials the administration influence is equally potent in evidence but it is concurrent in the national committee's decision in Georgia and Missouri contests. The selection of the committee on permanent organization of Senator Joseph Robinson, as permanent chairman of the convention, is another evidence of thorough administration control.

As to the candidates the convention has apparently become a field against McAdoo.

Bryan Makes Public His Treaty Plank.

San Francisco, June 29.—The treaty plank which Wm. Jennings Bryan will endeavor to have adopted by the democratic convention was made public today.

It calls for the immediate convening of the senate by a majority vote, for ratification of the treaty with Germany "with such reservations as a majority of the senators may agree upon, reserving for the future the making of such changes as we may deem necessary, and the appointment by President Wilson of American delegates to the league of nations to serve until regularly chosen delegates are elected and qualified."

President's Double at Convention

San Francisco, June 29.—"Looks like President Wilson."

This exclamation rippled through the convention crowd here today in exclamations of gasps and gulps, arms clutching, excited fingers pointing, and general excitement.

A smiling top-hatted individual, with frock coat and gray trousers, passed through the line and then left. It certainly looked like President Wilson, but it was R. O. Faulkner, famous as a "dead ringer" for Wilson, especially when he puts on the high hat, glasses and flashes a smile.

Faulkner had a lot of fun today with the democratic legion, but he had to resort to a closed car to keep from creating too much excitement.

Wets Win in First Contest Before Resolutions Committee

San Francisco, June 29.—Wets won the first skirmish today before the resolutions committee of the democratic national convention by a vote of 27 to 25. A motion was adopted which forced the dries to present their side of the question first.

San Francisco has been the Mecca of loyal democrats. The attraction was the national convention. This photograph shows John T. Barnes, delegate from Denver, astride the official mascot of the party upon his arrival in the convention city. With him is Miss Mary Foy of California, and (at right) Mrs. George Bass of Illinois. Miss Foy is to nominate President Wilson for a third term unless he prohibits it.

The story of the convention was received by leased wire running into the White House and carried to the president. Copies were made for other officials also. Throughout the day a little group sat in the executive's office receiving United Press reports.

UNIFIED OPERATION OF ALL RAILROADS ASKED BY CULVER

FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSIONER, WHO SAID THEY BROKE DOWN IN NINETY DAYS

AS A RESULT OF DIVIDED OPERATION AFTER GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP

(By United Press)

Washington, June 29.—Unified operation of the country's railroads was advocated today by W. B. Culver, federal trade commissioner, in a speech before the Washington advertising club.

"At the end of government operation the railroads went back into private hands but the roads broke down in less than ninety days," Culver said.

"As a result of the breakdown of the roads, goods cannot be moved to market. A coal famine is threatening and miners are only working one day a week."

Culver also advocated the repeal of the excess profits tax.

He predicted untold suffering and industrial shutdowns in the west next winter unless the coal situation is remedied.

"The industries of New England are closing down now in mid-summer for lack of coal," he said.

H. HERALDSON LOST THE NOMINATION FOR JUDGE IN THE ELEVENTH DISTRICT

(By United Press)

The canvassing board awarded certificates of nomination to all successful candidates in the primaries today.

Candidates of each party will meet at the capitol Thursday, according to the primary laws, and lay campaign plans.

SENATOR REED DENIED SEAT

RESOLUTIONS COMMITTEE SO DECIDES IN ROOM ADORNED BY PORTRAITS OF GREAT REPUBLICANS

(By United Press)

San Francisco, June 29.—Under the eyes of such eminent republicans as Lincoln, Grant, Garfield and Roosevelt, the credentials committee of the democratic national convention today upheld the rules of the national committee in the Georgia and Missouri contests, but decided to seat both the contesting delegates from Oregon with half a vote each.

The hearings to determine the permanent role of the convention were conducted in a room at the auditorium the fixtures and furniture of which were decidedly republican. Not a single democratic visage peered down among the pictures on the wall.

But the credentials committee accepted the twenty-eight Georgia delegates pledged to Attorney General Palmer and they were seated.

Senator James Reed again was denied a seat in the Missouri contest.

(By United Press)

Chicago, June 29.—Thousands of pounds of food were a total loss today following a million dollar fire which destroyed the C. B. & Q. railroad freight transfer house, one the largest in the middle west, which was heavily stocked with food. It and the cars there were razed.

The fire spread to tank cars and sheets of flaming oil was blown over the yard by the explosion.

Drink Water When Tired.
Dr. Eliza B. Mosher of Brooklyn urged the members of the Women's Medical society of New York state to drink a glass of water at 10 a. m. and others at 3, 4 and 5 p. m. This, she told them, would dilute the products of fatigue which were entering the blood and causing that tired feeling.

MC ADOO BOOM IS NOW IN HANDS OF EXPERIENCED MEN

WHO WILL DIRECT THE STRATEGY OF SON-IN-LAW'S CANDIDACY

HAROLD JACOBS

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

San Francisco, June 29.—The rejuvenated McAdoo boom has reached a stage today where it had passed out of the directorship of voluntary workers and had assumed a compact form under a small group of seasoned politicians.

The chosen form of organization which has become too huge and too unwieldy to function without experienced leadership, will be retained, but will be advised and directed by a small group which was chosen from the ranks of independent delegates to revive the expiring McAdoo candidacy after being severely wounded by the former secretary of treasury himself.

A McAdoo supporter likens the group to a "board of directors," chosen by stockholders.

Floor leaders had been chosen, according to authoritative information, but their identity had been withheld and while voluntary workers and "stockholders" are pursuing their own methods the "board of directors" is understood to be concentrating on strategy.

So far as can be learned, no definite decision as to McAdoo's name being placed formally in nomination, has been reached. However, a majority of the McAdoo organization advised Dr. B. Jenkins to go ahead with the nominating speech.

Coal docks at the head of the lakes whence coal is supplied for Minnesota and the Dakotas, have only a small percentage of coal in storage for this time of the year. Officials of the railroad and warehouse commission began a survey of the situation today.

MAIDENLY COYNES

"Finnegan," who was "in again, out again, gone again" and some more, has nothing on McAdoo. He was never a candidate; but Roper resigned to take charge of his campaign. He did not have an organization and no one spent any money in his behalf. But Roper kept busy and 700,000 officeholders did the rest.

Palmer beat him to it in Georgia and several other states on the surface. But lift the top quilt and there will be seen at San Francisco a convention of officeholders, chosen by officeholders and managed by the dispensers of office, with father-in-law at the other end of the phone. So when McAdoo refused to allow his name to be presented everyone either whistled or winked the other eye.

It was a riddle which set everyone to guessing. Lawrence, chief of the democratic political guess-bund, found that McAdoo had been sick; he had gone west for a rest under his doctor's orders; he was on his way to New York feeling much better; but still with his doctor in charge. Promptly on his arrival there he issued his "off-again" and Lawrence asks: "Did he find a letter from the White House?" or was he sick?

Then comes all the mystery and nothing boosts a candidate like modesty and mystery, those two "ms", especially when a close relative who may wish to perpetuate his dynasty in the family, or who may have a grudge, holds those two "ms" along with all the other cards in the deck in one hand and a telephone transmitter in the other. At the other end of the wire is the officeholder-bund.

So the reverend gentleman who has intuition and is loaded with a nomination speech, declares he will get it out of his system whether McAdoo wills that he should or not. He has a hunch. Is his hunch good? Maybe not, but Lawrence soon changes his own tune.

The news spread of the doctor's orders to McAdoo to rest and take life easy. This seemed serious, where "poverty" only brought a smile. But it was a sincere and friendly concern for the man, McAdoo, however, writes to deny it and calls it a scheme to defeat him, as it were, saying, "It would be impossible for me to publicly characterize such despicable methods." As Lawrence infers, McAdoo "is sensitive about his candidacy and believes there is some movement to hurt his chances of a spontaneous nomination."

So the feline slips from the bag in no friendly fashion but with claws unsheathed and showing his teeth. If the convention does not develop spontaneous combustion, there will be a disappointed movie attorney, will there be grief in the White House?—Duluth News Tribune.

BOOST MERCHANT MARINE OF U. S.

INSTITUTION TO BE BUILT UP UNDER NEW MEASURE RECENTLY PASSED.

PLAN TO MEET COMPETITION

Preferential Treatment Provided for Vessels Documented Under Laws of This Country—Shipping Board Directed to Determine Lines.
 By JAMES P. HORNADAY.

Washington.—A thoroughly American merchant marine will be built up under the terms of the new merchant marine law which congress put through just before it took recent adjournment, according to Admiral W. S. Benson, chairman of the United States shipping board.

The outstanding feature of the new law is that preferential treatment is provided for vessels documented under the laws of the United States. Such provisions, according to Admiral Benson and Senator Wesley Jones of Washington, chairman of the senate commerce committee, are absolutely essential if American vessels are to hold their own against foreign competition.

Congress declared in the law that "it is necessary for the national defense and for the proper growth of its foreign and domestic commerce that the United States shall have a merchant marine of the best equipped and most suitable types of vessels sufficient to carry the greater portion of its commerce and serve as a naval or military auxiliary in time of war or national emergency, ultimately to be owned and operated privately by citizens of the United States; and it is hereby declared to be the policy of the United States to do whatever may be necessary to develop and encourage the maintenance of such a merchant marine, and, in so far as may not be inconsistent with the express provisions of this act, the United States shipping board shall, in the disposition of vessels and shipping property as hereinafter provided, in the making of rules and regulations, and in the administration of the shipping laws keep always in view this purpose and object as the primary end to be attained."

An important provision of the law is that authorizing and directing the shipping board, the membership of which is increased from five to seven, to determine what steamship lines should be established from the United States to foreign ports or in the coastwise trade and to establish such routes through private individuals or companies if possible and otherwise to operate such lines itself until private operation thereof becomes feasible.

Extension of Shipping Laws.

The provisions giving preferential treatment to American vessels relate to extension of the coastwise shipping laws to the Philippines and other island possessions and territories of the United States, to the granting of lower rail rates on commodities carried to or away from the United States in vessels documented under the laws of the United States; to the president being authorized and directed to abrogate commercial treaties which restrict the right of the United States to impose discriminating customs duties on imports entering the United States and also to impose discriminating tonnage dues on vessels, and finally, to prohibition of the transportation of merchandise between points in the United States, by water or by land and water, via a foreign port, except in vessels documented under the laws of the United States.

The effect of the above provisions, if they are enforced, will be that a vast amount of cargo will be available for vessels documented under the laws of the United States.

Wide power is also given the shipping board to deny entry to ports of the United States foreign vessels whose owners are found guilty of unlawful discrimination against American vessels.

Shipping Board to Be Busy.

Congress declared in the law for private ownership and operation of the American merchant marine and eventually—unless the law is changed—that will come to pass, but as far as the next few years are concerned, the shipping board will be very busily engaged in the actual operation of ships owned or controlled by it.

The board is authorized and directed to sell the vessels built during and after the war by the government, but there is no time limit set in which this shall be accomplished. The direct command of congress on the subject is that the board shall sell the ships "as soon as practicable, consistent with good business methods."

Out of funds derived from the sale and operation of vessels the board may set aside annually for five years $25,000,000 for the creation of a "construction loan fund," out of which money may be lent to private individuals to aid them in building ships. Another provision designed to strengthen the merchant marine is that relating to the carriage of mail in American vessels, where practicable, and at rates of compensation to be fixed by the postmaster-general and the board.

The law gives special consideration to mortgages on vessels so that that form of investment is protected to a greater degree than in the past.

also of having endeavored by threat of prosecution to coerce Louis N. Something Like Cold!

A commercial traveler gives a terrible account of the intense cold in Sweden: "In Haparanda, the day before I left, I attended a performance at the theater. It was a tragedy. Everybody wept; but it was so cold that the tears of the spectators in the gallery fell like hailstones among the occupants of the stalls."

Leading Question.

"My wife is practicing with dumbbells," proudly exclaimed a would-be athlete. "Do you find them any softer than the flatirons?" queried a wag who overheard the remark.

Always the Silver Lining.

We'll admit that the future of the so-called civilized world unfolds no radiant prospect to the vision of the student. Still, the sky can never become so black, but that a 60-pound watermelon will spray the frowning archway with rainbows and spangle the horizons with flashes of gold.—Houston Post.

Valuable Fat in Alligator Pear.

Among the fruits used for food, the alligator pear is remarkable for its large proportion of fat, which runs as high as 20 per cent, or about the same as that of common cream, states an article in Popular Mechanics Magazine. It has been found that the human system assimilates this fat very readily up to as great a quantity as four and a half ounces a day.

Again Take Up Matter of Permanent Secretaryship

APPLICANT FOR THE POSITION

D. D. Schrader of Special Committee has gone to Minneapolis to Accompany Him Here

(By Secretary Chamber of Commerce)

A special meeting of the Chamber of Commerce is called for Wednesday evening to again take up the matter of a permanent secretary. It will be remembered that this subject was discussed at the last meeting, the members voicing their opinion that they desired to meet the applicant for the secretaryship before voting upon him.

D. D. Schrader left Monday for Minneapolis, and will return tonight accompanied by Francis B. Randall, nominee, for the above position. Mr.
Randall will be in Brainerd tomorrow, and the members of the club will no doubt have an opportunity of meeting him before his name comes up to be voted upon tomorrow evening.

This election is a most important event. It is necessary that the members use their votes in securing the best man available, and it is hoped that the full membership will turn out for the meeting tomorrow night.

Most of North Dakota, with the ex-reports of Minnesota's primary election. H. G. Roll, former Brainerd man, said Brinsmeade, N. D., had a big celebration, crowds cheering when Preus led the ticket.

Mr. Roll said the Minnesota primary has put a crimp into the North

SPEEDWELLS-PEQUOT

Tie Game 2 to 2, Ten Innings, Played at Pequot on Sunday Afternoon

The Speedwells, all Brainerd baseball team, battled Pequot Sunday to a 2 to 2 tie game. The rain was all that saved Pequot from being beaten out in the tenth inning.

In the tenth the old veteran, Ted Stallman, was put in as pinch hitter, and drove out a nice two-bagger, stole third, and with heavy hitters Roderick and Thoe up, would have clinched the game with the winning run, but it started to sprinkle and the umpire upon being notified by their first baseman, cried "game called account of rain."

D. Stallman pitched a good game with the exception of the first inning when Pequot made their only two runs on two hits and a wild pitch.
Batteries for Pequot, H. Johnson and Risnes, for Brainerd Gaskill and Stallman.

Roy Reis, who is home from the Fargo Agricultural College for the summer, played a good game at second for the Speedwells.

The regular first baseman was unable to be on the job and J. Belle-feuille was put on that sack and played like big leaguer.

The lineup Sunday for the Speed-wells, was Gaskill, c; Stallman, p; Belfy, 1b; Reis, 2b; Roderick, 3b;
Hickethier, ss; C. Thoe, lf; A. Thoe, and J. Kalland, cf; N. Moistad, rf; T.
Stallman, pinch hitter.

son, p; Jones, 1b; Bakken, 2b; Tracy,

Waino Ketonen, champion middleweight wrestler of the world, will defend his title against Henry Karhuns-ari, formerly of Brainerd, at Ely on the evening of Monday, July 5, as a feature of the celebration arranged by the American Legion.

Many of the larger cities had bid for this match, says the "Ely Miner," but on account of the best-in-the-country climatic conditions at Ely and the large number of tourists from all over the United States in the Ely "Playground of Nations," the wrestlers decided to grapple it out at Ely.
The match will take place at the ball park and there will be ample room for thousands of people.

(By United Press)

London, June 29.—The army of leader in Crimea, has been complete-

The thirteenth bolshevik army has Dnieper river, the dispatch said.

TO TAKE DOWN 3 STORY BRICK WALL

Brainerd Theatre & Amusement Company to Have Rear Wall of Park Theatre Removed

REBUILDING IS TO FOLLOW

Replacement will Take About Month to Complete at a Cost of $4,000 to $5,000

The Brainerd Theatre & Amusement Company, having adjusted its tornado loss, will soon have the rear wall of the Park Theatre taken down and replaced. An elevator will be put in at the rear of the building and the bricks carefully removed and the wall rebuilt from a point ten feet above the foundation. The loss, covered by insurance, ranged from $4,000 to $5,000.

The wind of the storm struck the wall squarely, driving it in at the top, causing it to bulge in several feet and causing layers of brick near the cornice to fall to the ground.

SOO RESTORES TRAIN

Through Service From Moose Lake to Cuyuna Iron Range Points—
Schedule Given
(Superior Telegram)
Trains 164 and 165 on the Soo Line.

being the direct Cuyuna range trains, are being restored today by the railroad company. The train will leave Superior at 2:55 o'clock in the afternoon and arrive at Riverton, the end of the branch, at 7 o'clock in the evening. The eastbound trains leave Riverton at 7 o'clock in the morning, arriving in Superior at 11 o'clock.

These trains were discontinued last December during the coal famine and since that time passengers for Cuyuna range points have traveled via the Soo Line, taking the Thief River Falls train at Lawler, where they transferred to the local from that point to Riverton. Under that schedule they left Superior at 11 o'clock in the morning and arrived here from Cuyuna points at 4:35 in the afternoon.

The new arrangement will give Superior one additional train each day to and from Moose Lake, Lawler and intermediate points.

No! Certainly frocks and suits never

A Variety of Good Reading Matter has made a bright companion of many a boor. The man who never could hold his own in a general conversation has an even chance to shine with the best of them if he can find time to read the St. Paul Sunday Pioneer Press.

A large proportion of the people of the Northwest MAKE time to read the St. Paul Pioneer Press. They like it because it is independent and unpartisan—it does not attempt to influence their views one way or the other, but gives them a chance to develop their own ideas and exercise a little initiative.

It keeps them posted on the politics of the day—it informs them what the other nations of the world are doing —it enables them to follow all the sporting events—and it gives them the latest market quotations on every product of interest to the Northwest.

They find the latest books discussed by the reviewers—the new film plays and regular drama criticized for their benefit—serial and short stories by well-known writers —magazine articles on special phases of human nature—and a fund of jokes, cartoons and comic pictures.

The ladies, too, are amply provided for in a big twelve-page Woman's Section, which covers practically every division of woman's work and activities in a helpful, interesting way. The kiddies, also, have their special section—a whole page full of puzzles, tricks, cut-outs, stories and correspondence. They write hundreds of letters weekly to the editor of their special page.

Think of the many topics you can discuss—the number of jokes you can retail—the political news you can argue about—the new stories and plays you can tell your friends about—and the hundred and one other subjects of conversation to be found in the

His Last Dollar

By EVELYN LEE

(Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union.)

Twenty dollars," spoke Sigmund Levi, pawnbroker.

"I will take it," answered Roslyn Dare, and placed his watch and chain upon the counter.

He had seen better days. They were dark ones now, indeed. Looking back a single year, when he had come to the city with a comfortable patrimony, he had invested it gradually in an automobile accessory which on the surface seemed capable of earning a fortune. In theory and as a model it demonstrated to perfection. Practically used it would not stand the test.

"I've beggared you, but I've been honest with you," said John Moore, sorrowfully. "The man I bought the device from was honest, too. There is only one hope—to go east and report to him the obstacle that stands in the way of our selling a half interest for enough to keep us for life. Don't quite hate me for bringing you to this."

"Not at all," declared Dare. "We all make mistakes. I'm young, not afraid of work and I shan't allow myself to starve."

He stowed safely away the $20 now, and stood for a moment calculating where he would go to get a cheap room and board. The door of the pawnshop opened as he was about to leave and a young girl carrying a long pasteboard box entered. She was dripping with the outside rain, her apparel was poor and threadbare, the wind had thrown her hair into disorder, her face was pale and anxious looking, and her eyes were burning with a token of excitement and suspense. For all that, a rare, natural beauty shone in every feature, and the evident fact that she was in deep mental distress aroused the sympathy of Dare. She advanced to the counter and placed the box upon it.

"See, sir," she spoke plaintively. "I could not borrow money, but I have brought my coat and hat and some little trinkets. Won't they make up the amount of the loan?"

The sordid-faced pawnbroker opened the box, tossed over its contents casually and shook his head. The girl choked up and clutched at the counter to support herself.

"Oh, don't say no!" she pleaded in broken, despairing accents. It means life or death for my dear sick father unless he has his favorite Amati. He has not yet missed the violin. It would break his heart if he knew it was gone. Listen, sir, his wild, wayward nephew stole it from the home and pawned it here with you. I never knew it until I found the loan ticket. An hour since, for the first time in weeks, my father seemed to revive like his old self. 'You will prepare a light repast and prop me up with pillows,' he said to me, 'and bring me my precious Amati, and we will have an old-time musical soul feast.'"

"Lady," said the pawnbroker. "I cannot let the instrument go without the $20 borrowed upon it. I never break a business rule, but I will give you $100 for the violin."

"Oh, I would not dare sell it!"

"Two hundred. You are poor; that will mean more to your sick father than sentiment."

"Give the young lady her property," spoke Dare, moved by a mighty impulse, and he placed the $20 bill upon the counter. The pawnbroker glared at him distastefully, for he fully comprehended the value of the violin. The young lady stared in amazement at Dare, but she took up the violin case the pawnbroker reluctantly tendered, and hugged it lovingly, her grateful eyes, swimming with tears, turned upon Dare. He accompanied her to the door.

"Young lady, the gentleman has just pawned all he has of value to give him food and shelter. Five hundred dollars for the violin," said the pawnbroker, but Dare hurried the girl out under the awning.

"Oh, sir!" she spoke, "is it true that your great good heart has sacrificed—"

"Pay no attention to the man," interrupted Dare lightly. "I am temporarily out of funds, but as a man having an interest in a hundred thousand dollar proposition, I would be pretty callous to refuse to save a poor old man, would I not?"

She clung to his arm as she piloted the way down the street, he intimating that he would like to see her home, and hoping he could be of further service. They reached the poor, obscure rooms where Robert Daizier and his daughter lived, and for an hour Roslyn Dare revealed in music that seemed to bring his soul in perfect consonance with all that was sweet and worthy in life.

"I shall surely pay you back," pledged the girl earnestly. "There is a room on the next floor my fugitive cousin occupied, and you could share our poor meals until—until fortune comes back to you, as it surely will, for all your noble goodness."

Dare found work the next morning. The delightful company of father and daughter evenings brought a new and joyous delight into his life. At the end of two weeks Vera, who had secured employment as well for herself, brought to him the money he had advanced. He refused to accept it, but asked her love instead.

And John Moore returned with good news, and each succeeding day was fairer than its predecessor and, fully recovered, Robert Daizier played the wedding march at the ceremony that made Vera and Roslyn man and wife.

When Sleep Will Not Come.

Don't hate the world and kick all night just because you don't happen to go to sleep. It damages your own nervous system, and any tender regard in which your roommate may have held you. Anger eats up energy and is responsible for next morning's very unpleasant day-after feeling. The lack of sleep mattered not at all. If instead of thrashing about viciously you had curled up cozily and day-dreamed, your night might have been salvaged, all might have been well.—Exchange.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Atmosphere Above Earth's Surface. The atmosphere is believed to extend much more than 100 miles above the earth's surface. Its density decreases rapidly for the first few miles of ascent, then much more gradually. From the phenomena of twilight, due to refraction of light, it may be demonstrated that the air extends up to a height of 45 miles; but other phenomena, such as the behavior of meteors and the aurora, show that rare air exists at a much greater height.

BILL TOLD me.
HE HAD a good joke.
ON THE maker.
OF A well-known brand.
OF CIGARETTES.
LAST NIGHT, Bill said.
HE READ an ad.
OF THIS cigarette.
IN A magazine.
IT SAID "They Satisfy."
AND THIS morning.
IN HIS newspaper.
HE READ "They Satisfy."
AND ON a billboard.
AND ON a card.
IN THE street-car,
AND IN the dealer's window,
AND ON the counter.
HE READ "They Satisfy."
AND HE bought a pack.
OF THESE cigarettes.
AND I asked him.
"WHERE'S THE joke, Bill?"
AND BILL said.
"WHY THE darn fools.
SPENDING THEIR money.
PICKING on me."
SO I said, "You bought 'em."
DIDN'T THEY satisfy?"
AND BILL said "Sure."
BUT HERE'S the joke.
FOR OVER a year.
I'D ALREADY been smoking
THAT BRAND.

WE admit it, the joke's on us. And over three million other smokers are "in on it" with Bill. But the real joke is on anybody who looks for "Satisfy" anywhere but in Chesterfields—for the Chesterfield blend can't be copied!
